THE SENTINEL

43rd YEAR, NUMBER 89

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1967

2724 GARNET AVE., PACIFIC BEACH, CALIF.

EXTENSION OF SPRAY

Beach Access Road Goes To Rec Board

A recommendation by Peninsulans Inc. to include a beach access road along the east side of Ocean Beach Park below the jetty will be forwarded to the Park and Recreation Board meeting next Wednesday, according to Recreation Director Pauline des Granges.

The Park and Recreation Board will decide whether to include the proposed beach road in the current beach improvement program, on the strength of the Peninsulans Inc. recommendation.

Peninsulans Inc. approved the concept of an access road and extension of Spray Street, southerly to the "most appropriate east-west street," and recommended further study at their Monday meeting last week.

The city Planning Department had proposed the access road to join the alleys in the area and to provide long-range traffic control and flow along the beach area.

The road was required, according to the planning department, because Peninsulans Inc. had designated the area immediately adjacent to the beach for high rise apartments and motels, somewhat similar to the Mission Bay development.

Necessary
According to planning group members, the road was necessary to attract such commercial development.

According to Miss des Granges, the road proposal, if passed, would place the road on the plan already approved by the Park and Recreation Board and the Mission Bay and Beaches Committee.

The construction of the 40 foot road, in that case, would not be dependent upon the widening of the beach in the area.

The Park and Recreation plan, already in effect, did not originally call for the park road at the easterly portion of Spray Street.

According to Planning Department recommendations, the road would join Brighton and either Santa Monica or Saratoga Streets.

Presumably, if the Park Board does not pass the proposal, the road stands a good chance of being included in a long-range plan for the beach development.

The immediate plan drawn by the Park and Recreation Board calls for no widening of the beach; inclusion of a parking lot just south of the jetty; landscaping, including some turf and trees, and walkways.

Many Automobiles

The long-range plan, being drawn up by the Planning Department and the Peninsulans Inc., will provide for filling in the beach, extending the water line outwards, and developing extensive landscaping and parking for 1,020 cars.

Miss des Granges likened the road to Coast Boulevard in La Jolla, in comparison to Mission Boulevard and the line of alleys one must traverse to reach the ocean.

The Peninsula community plan, due for its public airing in two weeks, would state that precise planning would be required to determine the exact alignment and location.

If passed by the Park Board, however, Planning Department officials say the road would probably be completed within a year.

Town Council Is Constructed With Caution

"Caution: Town Council under construction."

Making a general framework upon which to hang all the future business of the new Ocean Beach Town Council has occupied executive board members for the past month.

The board members feel that the important organizational details must demand their full attention before the town council can take any authoritative part in its community.

To that end, board members met last Thursday night to bind the working structure of the council together.

Occupying the evening with discussions of the committees needed, the new office to be furnished, and the representation required in the community, the board paved the way for the next general meeting, to be held the first Thursday of December.

The immediate problem, according to president Ned Titlow, is to define the needs of Ocean Beach and to form temporary working committees to take positive action.

"We have to come to an overall understanding on the problem," he said, using the statement as justification of the need to keep proposals general until the council can move into high gear.

The board members resolved to create four general committees immediately. They would be a Youth Committee, Human Relations Committee, and Beaches and Zoning Committee.

The Youth Committee would cover all the problems which touch youth, including both positive efforts to help youngsters as well as concern with policing problems.

Titlow mentioned that the recreational facilities—beach access, surfing zones, possible dances—would be a large part of the committee's work.

To the extent that the committee could help with the narcotics, juvenile delinquency, and minor-age discipline problems, it would do so also, said Titlow. The committee includes Mrs. Vesta P. Royle, Maurice Parson and Jean Ross.

A Professional and Business Committee would be composed of two sub-groups, each concerned with the problems of either the business or professional community and headed by Don Heller, Lamar Hunt and Hy Glaser.

It was felt that this form of procedure would offer both groups with some representation on the council, while recognizing that each had its specific problems.

The Human Relations Committee would be concerned with relations with law enforcement, initially. Members would contact police to discuss the specific problems of the beach area.

Liaison

Later, the group would be a liaison between police and citizens. Heading the committee are Richard F. Thorpe, Mrs. Lillian Johnson and Rev. Willard Laatz.

"Beaches and Zoning," according to Titlow, is an appropriate title for a committee.

Report Cards

Discussed In

PTA Meeting

"Report Cards" will be the topic at Loma Portal PTA's first Parent-Principal Luncheon Wednesday. All interested parents are invited to make reservations for lunch in the school cafeteria at 12:30 p.m. when David A. Angfanger, principal, will speak.

Mrs. George Roe, PTA social chairman, is accepting reservations through tomorrow.

During luncheon there will also be a discussion of topics for future luncheons in the series.

Loma Portal PTA will not hold a regular monthly meeting in November, instead members plan to attend the school open house Thursday night at 7 p.m. Both the open house and the Parent-Principal Luncheon have been planned to coincide with American Education Week, Nov. 5-11.

tee to be concerned with the physical aspects of Ocean Beach, such as traffic, parking, litter, or street lights.

One of the committee's first jobs would be to coordinate efforts with Peninsulans, Inc., to study to plan for the beach area, reviewing such proposals as the beach road, extension in Ocean Beach Park, and organizing further development of Robb Field. Albert R. Vallin is head.

The town council's new offices, soon to be opened to the public, will be at 1835 Bacon St. The offices need some equipment, notably a typewriter, a legal-size file case, and a secretary's chair. Titlow mentioned that donations would be highly appreciated.

Candidate

A possible executive secretary candidate, Fred G. Irby, Lt. Cmdr. (USN-ret.) of 1566 Santa Barbara St., attended the meeting.

Incorporation papers were signed and returned Wednesday, reported board members, and incorporation would be just around the corner.

The council will function as an information and public relations body for Ocean Beach, and a complaint-corrector for residents.

Election Guide

Where do the 16 candidates on Tuesday's general election ballot stand?

Today on the back of this section the Sentinel offers a complete election guide on what candidates for mayor, City Council, and Board of Education have to say about the issues facing San Diego.

Voters will go to the polls starting at 7 a.m. to select nominees for mayor, four council posts, and three Board of Education seats.

Do you know how you'll be voting? Check this special page for a closeup look at your leaders for the next four years.

Support Your General Plan

The Sentinel offers the following recommendations for offices of Mayor, City Council, Board of Education, and Proposition A for Tuesday's general election ballot.

PROPOSITION A

No city of 670,000 people can operate without a general set of guidelines and hope to emerge as a beautiful and progressive city in the future. The proposed Progress Guide and General Plan prepared by a committee of 70 citizens, and endorsed by more than 100 community groups, maps out San Diego's future through 1985. It is a flexible document, easily amended, that will be a workable means of preserving San Diego from becoming a vast "sprawling area" like Los Angeles. San Diego has been fortunate to date in having excellent planning, but with continuing rapid development it cannot operate effectively without knowing where it is going.

We recommend a YES vote on Proposition A.

MAYOR

We firmly believe that Mayor Frank Curran should be returned for another four-year stint as San Diego's mayor. Curran's experience as a two-term councilman, followed by four years as mayor, qualifies him to lead this city in the future. He has been part of a city government that has produced Mission Bay development, the San Diego Stadium, the Community Concourse, the municipally owned rapid transit system and many other community projects that have truly made San Diego a "city in motion."

Councilman Allen Hitch, a part of the progressive City Council under Curran's term as mayor, has served the city well, and we hope he will remain on the council and continue his leadership there.

COUNCIL DISTRICT 2

Ivor deKirby's retirement from the City Council has left this district without an incumbent. We support Mr. deKirby in his recommendation that Sam T. Loftin be elected to succeed him. Loftin's record as a successful businessman and his sincere interest in San Diego assures District 2 and the city that much of the thinking that deKirby has brought to the council will continue under Loftin's tenure.

COUNCIL DISTRICT 4

Incumbent Tom Hom was a three-to-one favorite among voters in his district in the September primary election. We believe this approval from his district indicates that San Diegans are happy with the work Hom has accomplished during his first four years as a public servant. He has worked effectively with the racial problems that face San Diego, especially the Southeast area, and we support him in his reelection bid.

COUNCIL DISTRICT 6

Jack Walsh's first four-year term as councilman in District 6 has distinguished him as one of the most dynamic and creative councilmen serving San Diego.

His many suggestions for improvements and programs in city government have already saved taxpayers many millions of dollars. He is a continual source of imaginative proposals that make San Diego a better place to live, and it would certainly benefit the community to return him to his council post.

Athos Sada, who recently retired as San Diego's deputy Chief of Police, has waged a conscientious campaign and is a credit to the community.

We hope his talents and long experience, especially in the narcotics field, will continue to be available to the community.

COUNCIL DISTRICT 8

Two years ago San Diegans picked Mike Schaefer, then 27, as the youngest person ever to be elected to the City Council.

Since then Schaefer has shown much dedication to his job and has been an active member of the council team.

Although he has much growing up to do, Schaefer evidences much of the clear thinking that characterizes Jack Walsh. We feel that he deserves another four years and that San Diego needs his energies.

BOARD OF EDUCATION DISTRICT A

Arnold O. Steele, the incumbent, has had a good record during the past four years. His views represent the programs that San Diegans want in their schools. His feelings on more local control, better narcotics enforcement, and more involvement for teachers in the decision-making process deserves favorable consideration.

BOARD OF EDUCATION DISTRICT E

Rev. George Walker Smith, also an incumbent, has been an active member of the board during his first term. He supports the proposition that district employees should have a part in the decision-making process. He also believes there should be local control of junior colleges. We recommend that Rev. Smith be retained on the Board of Education.

BOARD OF EDUCATION DISTRICT D

The retirement of Dr. Frank Lowe from the Board has left a vacancy. We recommend Richard L. Johnston for the post. Johnston has proved himself as the administrator at Children's Hospital, and we concur with District D voters who strongly supported him in September's primary election.

Area Chairman Selected For Boy Scouts

Lawrence A. Knechtel, of Carmel Valley Road, Del Mar, has been elected chairman of the Cabrillo District, San Diego County Council, Boy Scouts of America for the coming year. He will be officially installed in the post at the annual Cabrillo District recognition dinner Tuesday by Julius J. Fink, County Council President.

Knechtel has served with the San Diego City School System for the past 20 years and is presently Director for the Career Development Services Department of the San Diego Unified School District. In his job as Chairman of the Cabrillo District, Mr. Knechtel will direct a large staff of volunteer adult Scouters working with Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers Scouts.

The Cabrillo District is one of eight districts in the San Diego County Council and serves boys in Point Loma, Loma Portal, Ocean Beach, Pacific Beach, Mission Beach and La Jolla.

The annual dinner will begin at 6 p.m. with a reception and will be held in the CPO Club near Gate 1 of the Naval Training Center. It is held each year to honor the volunteer adult Scouters and to officially introduce the new District Chairman and his staff.

Four Cabrillo District volunteers will be selected to receive the Award of Merit Citation in recognition for their "service to boyhood." The citation is the highest award that a Scout district can bestow upon its volunteer workers.

BEACH TRANSFORMATION — Instead of those yards of uninterrupted sand on the beach, the city proposes to change the face of part of the land. The heavy solid line is the present high-tide mark. In the dotted portion the city proposes landscaping with either turf or just trees. The heavy dotted line shows the course of the proposed beach road, which will connect all alleys from Brighton to Saratoga Streets.

Hi Debbers Salute All AFS Peaple

The Walker Scott Hi Debbers Varsity Council will hold a special event saluting the American Field Service exchange students living in San Diego County on Saturday, Nov. 18, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the House of Pacific Relations in Balboa Park.

This event will give teens of San Diego an opportunity to meet these outstanding international students and to help make them feel at home in the individual cottages of the House of Pacific Relations, the AFS students themselves will greet San Diego teens, tell them of their countries, and show displays of teenagers in their native lands.

Throughout the day there will be continuous entertainment on the lawn put on by the AFS students and other international groups. There will be several short fashion shows during the day modeled by the High Debbers Council members. Soft drinks will be served courtesy of Canada Dry.

The 30 AFS students being honored at this event represent 22 countries around the world. These exchange students were chosen to come to the United States by their individual countries on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, activities in school, enthusiasm, and a basic working knowledge of the English language. They represent the epitome of responsible young people around the world.

Acting as hostesses to the AFS students will be queens of the individual cottages of the House of Pacific Relations. This organization began as part of the 1935-36 California Pacific International Exposition. The 19 separate cottages were retained after the exposition as a permanent meeting place for various national groups as a means of encouraging Pacific (peaceful) relations.

This traditional event is set for 6:15 and will start off with a candlelight procession from Cabrillo Hall to the parking lot. # Catamarise Approved By Commission

Two groups of citizens, one for and one against an addition to the Catamaran Hotel, battled it out verbally before the city Planning Commission this week before commissioners granted the application.

The Planning Commission approval, unless an appeal is filed within 10 days to the City Council, means that construction can start immediately on the project. Catamaran operator Bill Evans said earlier that construction on the $2 million building should start the first of next year. The building will be 13 stories high and have 128 units.

The commission imposed several restrictions before granting the application, including a 15-foot setback requirement from the proposed location directly on the bay. The commission also made provisions for a fire road and for a fence on the east boundary of the property.

Evans, in his losing bid before the commission for the bayfront building, said it would make him competitive with similar developments at Acapulco and Miami Beach. Evans said the new structure would not effect the view of surrounding property or cast shadows on other property.

Petition

Evans submitted a petition signed by 35 adjacent property owners who favored the building.

Leading the opponents to the building was J. Floyd Andrews, 915 Braemar St., represented by attorney William Bailey. Bailey said he felt that conditions set down in the city code for approving the building had not been met.

Bailey also said that the new structure would create additional parking problems in the area and that the privacy of persons in surrounding homes was being invaded. Several other property owners voiced similar objections.

Planning Director R. James Fairman made a strong bid for the setback requirement on the building. Fairman said the building would intrude on public property when private beach leases in the area expire in 1967. He also said the building would set a dangerous precedent.

Fashion Show, Prizes Highlight Grand Opening

Free refreshments, prizes, and a fashion show will highlight the grand opening of Genesee Gardens Plaza Saturday.

Tearo's Florist will have the first in a series of Saturday drawings where a floral arrangement worth $7.50 will be given weekly.

All three businesses will serve refreshments from 10 to 4 p.m.

A neighbor, Mrs. Jane Feeley of 764 Archer St. heard Harper's dog barking at 8:30 p.m. and saw activity next door. She called out to someone she took for Harper's son and told police she heard "SShhhh" for an answer.

Mrs. Feeley soon discovered the house had been burglarized and she immediately went out to find Harper, according to police.

Unitarian Forum Is Prepared

Speaking on "Law and Dissent," Maj. Gen. George Hickman, USA (Ret) will address the San Diego Open Forum, Sunday at 8 p.m. The program will be held in the auditorium of the First Unitarian Church, 4190 Front St.

Maj. Gen. Hickman, professor of law at the University of San Diego, served as Judge Advocate General of the United States Army from 1957 through 1960. A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, he earned his LL.B. at the Harvard University Law School.

A panel of authorities on local as well as national problems of dissent will question
Maj. Gen. Hickman following his 30 minute lecture.
The panelists will be: Judge
Byron F. Lindsley of the San Diego Superior Court; Peter
J. Hughes, attorney; and the Rev. John Ruskin Clark, minister of the First Unitarian Church. Questions from the audience will be answered at the conclusion of the half-hour panel discussion.

Discussion in open meeting of the right to dissent will be the second in the Forum's 1967-68 series of eight programs on "Law and the Citizen." The overriding concern of all Americans with the pros and cons of this subject dictated its choice this year, according to David Cherry, Open Forum
president. "Since its founding in 1919, the Open Forum has endeavored to bring an opportunity for free discussion of America's most controversial topics to San Diegans each year," he said.

Season membership subscriptions, ranging from $2 for students and $6 for adults through larger amounts, have been the principal support of the Open Forum over the years.
Memberships may be obtained at the door.

"But it is not necessary to hold a season membership card to attend Open Forum meetings," Cherry said. "The public is cordially invited."

REFUNDS, EXCHANGES
With the holiday season in the offing it is not too soon for a reminder about refunds and exchanges. The Better Business Bureau emphasizes that whether or not you can return merchandise for credit or refund depends entirely upon the policy of the company with whom you do business. Just because you
"change your mind," you have no legal right to a refund. If in doubt, ask the

Reader's Views

We don't mean to raise our voices. BUT . . . There comes a time when minority groups must raise a loud clamor in order to be heard above the din made by over-zealous political candidates who joyfully leap into unknown worlds just to place their names before the public. It is Mike Schaefer at whom we cat owners point an indignant finger! Mike Schaefer whose main political campaign issues seem to be the elimination of cats and the propagation of public fountains.

The undersigned Cat Clubs would like to answer Mr. Schaefer's palid arguments against cats. We wish to point out to Mr. Schaefer and to the voting public that there are over 200,000 pet cat owners within our city and, should Mr. Schaefer's plan become law, the family pussycat cannot have a planned litter of kittens unless dad puts half of them to sleep immediately or be subject to a sizeable fine! If Madam Puss has more than three kittens, everyone's in trouble. Let us further call to the voters attention that the professional cattery under Mr. Schaefer's condemnation takes fine care of its cats. They are bathed, combed, defleaded, baby powdered, exercised, fed vitamins in balanced diets and taken to the Vet for regular checkups. The cats belonging to professional breeders are never allowed to breed indiscriminately and prospective buyers are screened with care. Cattery cats are not permitted to run free and disturb the neighbors and are far better cared for than most children, including those of some publicity-hungry politicians. It is not only the cattery owner who will be penalized by Mr. Schaefer's little plan, but every family pet who might someday have a litter of kittens.

And you dog owners, don't just sit there and smile tolerantly at the plight of the family cat. Should Mr. Schaefer manage to eliminate the Cat Fancy, what makes you think he won't try for YOUR pedigree hides next? Mix that food for thought into the dog kibble and digest it well.

It is the sincere hope of the Cat Clubs of San Diego that Mr. Schaefer will devote some of his time to accomplishing something more worthwhile than witch hunting pet cats. There are jobs to be found, children to be fed, and reasonable housing to be provided. Or if he's not up to that, perhaps he will just go back to his public fountains and swimming pools.

Massing Of Colors Planned For Sunday

The 13th Annual Massing of the Colors and Memorial ceremony will be held this afternoon under the joint sponsorship of the San Diego County Chapters, Military Order of World Wars and the City of San Diego.

Cap. Larry B. Cook, (Ret.), U.S. Navy, Commander of the La Jolla Chapter, MOWW, said this would mark the first time that the annual memorial service would be held in Balboa Stadium.

"The growing popularity of the event, the only formal Memorial Day service held locally demands the need for additional space in which the color guards can be massed," he said.

Colonel Harold C. Conrad, (Ret.), U.S. Army, General

Chairman, said nearly four county civic, patriotic and military agencies are expected to participate.

A concert by the Marine Corps Recruit Depot band and Naval Training Center Bluejacket choir is scheduled to open the pre-ceremony activities Sunday afternoon, Nov. 5, at 2 p.m.

The pageantry of color guards marching into position on the Balboa Stadium playing field is to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Conrad noted that participation by color guards in San Diego County is invited, adding that arrangements may be made by contacting his office at 286-2658 (San Diego) or writing to 4447 Arendro Drive in San Diego. It was the Military Order of World Wars chapters throughout the nation that introduced Massing of the Colors programs in conjunction with Memorial Day services more than two decades ago.

Conrad, a Purple Heart veteran of World War II, said the significance of this annual event is of particular interest to youth groups in the city.

"Too many of our young people have grown into adolescence without the true knowledge of Memorial Day. Through this event, we hope to strengthen the values represented by Memorial Day services."

Already listed for the forthcoming participation are more than 175 color units in the County, Conrad said. He pointed out that there will be no admission to the event and that the public is invited.

Balboa Stadium, vacated as a center of major sports attractions since the construction of the San Diego Stadium, will seat 34,500.

"It is our fondest hope that every seat will be filled for this Memorial Day service," he added.

Social Action Committee Runs Service

Today at the United Church of Mission Village the service will be handled by the Social Action Committee.

Russell Armstead will lead in a discussion of the responsibilities and roles in meeting our goals for universal education.

Robert Olisar will direct the Chancel Choir in singing "Unto Thee, O Lord," by Aubach. Mona Preuss will be at the organ.

Church School for three years olds through the ninth grade is conducted and a nursery is provided during the 10 a.m. service.

The Senior High Youth meet at the church on Sunday evenings at 7 p.m. A warm welcome is given to young people in the area to join the group and help in planning the fall program.

KOMETS STRUGGLE, GET THERE

Kearny Atop Alone

By RANDY HOFFMAN
Kearny High football players are all smiles today because their football club holds sole possession of first place in the Western League for the first time since the early 1965 season.

But getting there wasn't all that easy.

For instance, last Friday night at Mesa College, University High, a team which league contenders Pt. Loma and La Jolla rolled over by mammoth scores, provided stiff opposition while absorbing a tight 13-7 loss to the Komets.

The Komets gave every indications of a romp for the evening early in the first quarter when a short University punt gave them the ball on the Don's 41-yard line. On the Komets' first play from scrimmage, quick Kearny halfback Mike Wieneck went off right tackle for the score, putting Kearny in front, 6-0.

The Dons gave their Homecoming crowd their only thrill for the evening with 1:36 remaining in the first frame when quarterback Paul Wagner connected with end Gene Beagin on a 16-yard pass play for the score. A conversion gave the Dons a brief 7-6 edge.

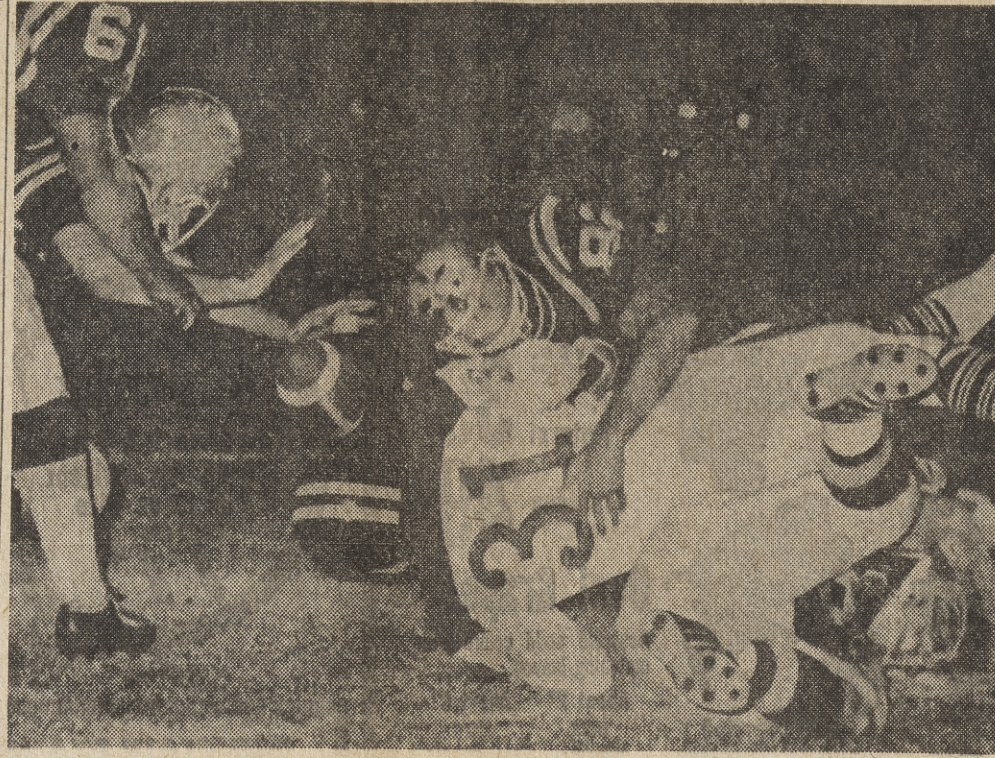

Kearny shot right back with a 58-yard drive in four plays and just nine seconds into the second quarter when end Ed Evilsizer stepped into the end zone on the receiving end of a 30-yard pass from quarterback Oberreuter to round out the evening's scoring.

From that point on, it was strictly a defensive battle. Uni lost the ball four times in Kearny territory in the remainder of the game, three times on timely interceptions by Kearny defenders. The Komets were stalled twice in University territory, once on downs at the 29 and once on a fourth and five situation on the seven-yard line when a lateral from Oberreuter intended for Wieneck careened out-of-bounds.

Alcott PTA

The welcome mat is out at Alcott School on Thursday. There will be a short PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. followed by refreshments. In conjunction with American Education Week, classrooms will be open to enable parents to meet with teachers.

CAPTAIN HOOK—Point Loma co-captains Tom Buckman (bottom) and John Matheson (top) team up to blast La Jolla halfback Lloyd Kitson at the goal line, forcing a costly Viking fumble that was recovered by Pointer tackle Jeff Long, right. Two plays later, the Lomans scored and eventually took a 20-7 victory, second place in the Western League and "The Shoe," symbol of the Point Loma-La Jolla rivalry. ## Point Loma Sidelines LJ, Boughton, Others

By LARRY LITTLEFIELD

Point Loma doesn't believe in miracles.

Therefore, the Pointers have all but resigned themselves to a second place finish in the Western League behind the team they love so much—Kearny.

"Even as bad as Kearny is," said one of Point Loma's many assistant coaches, "La Jolla can't beat them now."

By "now," he meant now that the Vikings are without the services of their leader, quarterback Scott Boughton, who is out for the remainder of the season with a broken collar bone.

Just how much Boughton's second quarter injury had to do with Point Loma's 20-7 victory Friday night is hard to estimate, but La Jolla wasn't nearly the same team without him in the second half.

Point Loma solved the Viking defense in the second half by sending a man in motion and quickly erased the 7-6 lead La Jolla enjoyed at halftime. But it was La Jolla's offense that suffered.

An intercepted pass by Marc Townsend set up a La Jolla first quarter touchdown achieved when Boughton hit flanker Fred Rocker with a four-yard scoring aerial.

La Jolla out-hit and out-fought the Pointers most of the first half, but yielded a six-pointer on a fumble at the one yard line midway in the second stanza. Quarterback Joe Radovich took it over.

The Pointers put forth a powerful and effective one-two punch in the second half with fullback Jack Chambers blasting up the middle and halfback Paul Williams skirting the ends.

Williams, a speedster leading the Western League in scoring, tallied both Point Loma second half touchdowns, going 17 yards with 7:05 left in the third quarter and 24 yards with 8:53 left in the final period.

The Pointers moved on scoring drives of 57 yards in six plays and 49 yards in five plays.

University JV Captures Title

University High can rightfully use that old promise "Wait 'til next year." It's junior varsity has captured the Western League championship.

Spotting Kearny 13 first quarter points, the Don jayvee came back to score a 42-13 triumph, its 15th straight game without a loss.

La Jolla was hampered by the lack of timing on the part of second string quarterback Craig Anderson, who otherwise did a good job under the circumstances. The Vikes, however, have a week to prepare a new offense for league leading Kearny.

"It's almost too much to ask," said Pointer coach Bennie Edens, "but in high school football you never know. We're happy with this victory because this game either made or broke our season."

"We are only one touchdown, one play really, away from the Western League championship, which isn't bad."

Most of the Pointers, who play a non-league afternoon game against San Diego next Friday, will return to La Jolla that night to see the Viking-Komet battle.

"We can still play defense," La Jolla coach Gene Edwards said. "It will just be a matter of trying to score. We're not throwing in the towel."

In addition to losing Boughton, fullback Belton Flournoy has a painful hip pointer and halfback Frank Dixon has a knee injury, giving the Vikes three sidelined first stringers.

La Jolla 7 0 0 0-7

Pointers Await 'Official' Crown

Point Loma won its biggest dual meet of the season last Tuesday, but will have to wait until next Friday to be officially crowned as Western League Cross-Country Champion.

The Pointers stayed undefeated by taking the first four places against Clairemont in an 18-9 victory over the UCSD course. The Western League finals are set for next Friday at La Jolla Country Day School.

Don Ludwick was the first place winner and was followed by teammates Dave Hull, Ric Amador and Dave Orr. Henry Hallahan, first for straight game without a loss, Clairemont, was fifth.

Luckless Hawks Take 11th Loss

It was seven-come-11 for Madison High Friday night. If that sounds like good luck, it's not because the Warhawks dropped their seventh game of the '67 season to give them 11 straight losses overall.

Hoover High of the Eastern League piled up a 20-0 halftime lead, then coasted to a 26-6 victory, giving Madison its second straight loss by that same score.

The Hawks got on the scoreboard in the third quarter as halfback Ed Zajonc dashed five yards following an interception by his brother Larry.

Rockets Play Hosts

Knicks Here Tonight; Chamberlain's Due

Two of the National Basketball Association's toughest customers—Willis Reed and Wilt Chamberlain—lead their respective clubs against the San Diego Rockets this week at International Sports Arena.

Reed, whose 53 points against the Los Angeles Lakers earlier this week is the most scored in a game this season, will head the New York Knicks attack against the Rockets at 7 tonight.

Chamberlain, the seven-foot, one inch giant who dominates the NBA record books, brings the World Champion Philadelphia 76ers to the Arena for Tuesday and Wednesday night clashes with the Rockets.

Tipoff time for the 76er games is 8 p.m. with ladies receiving a $1 discount on $3 reserved and $2 general admission seats Wednesday evening.

This is the Rockets last home stand until Nov. 16.

SENTINEL SPORTS

against the Chicago Bulls.

The San Diego Gulls take a respite from Western Hockey League competition until Nov. 15 when the Seattle Totems arrive for a showdown against the high-flying San Diego skaters.

Chargers Rest, Plan For Miami

The San Diego Chargers enter the second half of the American Football League season in second place in the Western Division with a record of 5-1-1.

Idle this weekend, the Chargers return to action against the Miami Dolphins at beautiful new San Diego Stadium next Sunday. The young Dolphins (1-5), paced by rookie quarterback Bob Griese, play the Buffalo Bills at Buffalo today.

Despite a 51-10 thump by the Oakland Raiders before a record crowd of 53,474 at Oakland last Sunday, the Chargers are only one-half game behind the Raiders (6-1) and in good position to challenge for the lead in the stretch run.

Disc Jockeys To Take Caliente Rides Today

Top billing goes to a band of contenders for the two-year-old championship at Caliente today, but the youngsters will have to share center stage with one of the season's most unusual attractions, the first running of the International Disc Jockey Derby.

The baby gallopers will be brought together for the featured San Miguel Handicap, a one-mile test which will serve as a trial for the forthcoming $5000 added Juvenile Handicap, to be presented Nov. 19 over the mile and one-sixteenth course. Winner of that affair will have a stranglehold on the divisional title for the second semester of 1967.

Some of the leading radio personalities from San Diego and Tijuana will don riding togs, including brightly embroidered shirts designed for the occasion, to accept mounts in the Disc Jockey Derby. They'll be astride saddle ponies instead of thoroughbreds and will have professional assistance from members of Caliente's regular jockey brigade who'll serve as valets.

The Derby will be a quarter-mile dash from a walkup start rather than out of the gate, and, in addition to giving cash prizes to the first three disc jockeys to hit the finish, Caliente also is offering an array of trophies. Included among the well-known stars of the airways participating are Ernie Myers, Big Mike, Tom Murphy, Rod Page, Noel Kelly, Bill Wade and J. Diaz Croche, better identified to Mexican audiences as "El Penicilino."

Town Talk

By MARY FISHEL

IT IS BETTER . . . to give than to receive . . . Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roon have given a $50,000 physiotherapy unit to Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation to mark their 50th wedding anniversary. Dr. Edmund L. Keeney (he is director of SCRF) said it was their hope and intention to see that the physical therapy unit will be the finest of its kind in Southern California. Furthermore it will provide service for everybody who lives in the area since it will be established on the first floor and connected to a parking lot by ramp for easy access. Following a tour of SCRF facilities the Roons decided the research laboratories were sophisticated and imaginative and the staff excellent and highly competent.

Since they were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary, they decided to contribute a gift, which was greatly needed, according to Dr. Keeney . . . a gift for all, via Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation.

DEL MAR HOTEL . . . was alive and jumping the other evening (probably better even than in the old days) when Mrs. T. Franklin Schneider of La Jolla entertained 150 guests at a real spook-chasing Halloween party! She got the idea one day on her way to the races at Del Mar.

She looked at the famous old hotel rather sadly and thought about how lively it had been at one time . . . and how "ghostly" it looks now.

A huge Totem pole with a pumpkin, Tiki torches, lanterns and flickering lights led the way for the party guests into the alcove, where they were greeted with a graveyard scene. There was of course an old witch . . . spiders . . . cobwebs . . . and even a trunk with a corpse, who had evidently gotten tired of his grave.

Psychedelic lights and colors with an emphasis on BLACK decorated the bar, where the bar-tender entered into the fun by dressing as "The Little Old Swiss Winemaker" . . . all the guests wore colorful costumes.

A band was playing in the dining room, where a huge mirror reflected interesting revolving light patterns during dinner served buffet style. During intermission other good entertainers such as Joe Foss (piano) and Leon Miller and Betty Law of Starlight sang.

As Mrs. Schneider remarked . . . "What a shame to demolish this landmark . . . perhaps it could be made into a historical museum?"

"RUSSIA — FIFTY YEARS AFTER" . . . will be the topic when Dr. Alonzo L. Baker lectures on the significant changes since the days of Lenin Nov. 14 (3 p.m.) at the second lecture in a series sponsored by the La Jolla Committee of the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Mrs. John W. Hopkins, chairman, has announced the lecture will be held in Sherwood Hall. Some of the points Dr. Baker will cover include "creeping capitalism in Russia and the watering down of Marxism" according to Mrs. Hopkins.

Dr. Baker spent several months this past summer in Russia and his remarks will be based on first hand observation as well his analysis of world events during more than 40 years' travel. The lecture is open to the public and proceeds will help defray costs of bringing the Los Angeles Philharmonic to the Civic Theater.

NAVY WIVES . . . of Destroyer Squadron 17 are going to try and influence their husbands (those who are not overseas) and friends to attend a theater party Wednesday evening at the Circle Arts Theater. "LUV" will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Prior to curtain time wives planning to dine at the Sands Hotel include Mmes. Mason B. Freeman, Sheldon H. Kinney, Donald V. Cox, Robert H. Robeson Jr., Kenneth B. Brown (he is Squadron Commander), E. D. Geiger, Robert S. Hayes, C. W. Cummings, John F. Ad-

Mrs. Charles Constable of Pacific Beach, commander of the auxiliary, will preside at the meeting. The dinner will precede the annual Forget-Me-Not drive of the chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Leroy Spangler of Point Loma announce the birth of a daughter Oct. 23 at Doctors Hospital.

dams, Robert E. Lantsberger, Leland S. Beedle Jr., Robert I. Vickers, Wayne H. Bostic and Robert S. McCormack.

Wives of the USS Jouett (DLG-29) will be hostesses.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By

DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN

Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—I'm 27 and recently married. Frankly I'm a nervous wreck. I'm constantly carping at my husband without reason. I can't sleep at night and now I'm biting my nails, something I have not done since childhood. I'm not sick or anything, but I just seem to go to pieces over everything. What do you suggest, if anything?

ANSWER—Excessive anxieties can be startling in their effects. Many normal, reasonably tranquil individuals have, over a period of time, developed what's referred to as "nervousness" that causes them to become abnormal in their behavior. Here again nervous tensions or nervousness starts with problems in the nervous system.

Spinal misalignments in the small vertebrae bones get pinched off, interfering with the vital nerve supply to many important body functions. This interference causes irritations to develop in the surrounding body tissue which, in so many cases, causes the mental stress and destructive anxieties to build up. Chiropractic can restore the proper carrying ability of these nerves through a corrective adjustment, often quickly restoring the patient's peace of mind.

Chiropractic
Not Cure All

Q—Can chiropractors cure everything?

ANSWER—Of course not. Doctors of medicine and practicing surgeons are a vital part of today's healing. Their skills are as much appreciated by the chiropractor as by all other professionals. Chiropractic is a specialized area of the healing arts dealing with problems of spinal misalignment. It is the abnormal pressure on critical nerves caused by these misalignments that the chiropractor seeks to relieve. If the pressure is not relieved, the body function controlled by these nerves can be seriously impaired or can cease to function. Once the pressure is relieved, the body's normal restorative powers take over and restore good health.

Free X-Ray

Q—I'd still like to know how you offer a free initial x-ray and examination. No body else does.

ANSWER—Offering something free, I've found, is one of the most difficult things I've ever tried. It takes a great deal of explanation it seems. My office charges nothing for the initial x-ray, analysis, and examination in order to eliminate a costly barrier that might be preventing you from finding out if the chiropractic method of healing can help in your specific case. It takes an x-ray to make a precise analysis and a proper decision.

History of Heart Attacks

Q—This may seem like a dumb question, but I don't see how chiropractic can help in heart trouble cases. I'm 42, and my family has a history of bad heart attacks. How can chiropractic help prevent this?

ANSWER—Many cardiovascular problems are caused by interference with the vital cardiac nerves. These spinal nerves with their branch nerve systems influence the rate and force of the heart beat and the circulation of the blood through the coronary arteries. A spinal misalignment in the thoracic area or 2nd spinal vertebra can cause an impingement or blockage on these vital nerves, causing serious impairment of the heart's function. Cardiac research conducted by the Chiropractic Heart Foundation, of which I'm a member, has clearly shown that proper spinal adjustment could have prevented heart disease and resultant coronary attacks in many cases. A chiropractic check-up using an x-ray for proper analysis can determine if a spinal correction is necessary.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Road or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. Free initial X-ray examination, and analysis. Telephone 278-2902. Copyright 1967

Just how open is a town that is a "wee bit" open?

An article by Harold Keen appearing in the July issue of SAN DIEGO MAGAZINE states that Allen Hitch believes that supervision of San Diego's entertainment places is a little too tight, with the vice squad overseeing such establishments too closely. This article quotes Mr. Hitch as saying, "I'm not suggesting open gambling and prostitution . . . but the town should be opened up a wee bit more."

Here's what Mayor Frank Curran believes on this subject: "A town is either open or it's not. There is no in-between. Having a town that is a "wee bit open" is like having a wee bit of cancer. And vice, like cancer, is just as likely to grow. So that there is no doubt as to where I stand on this issue, let me tell you flatly that when I am re-elected, our city will not be opened up . . . even a wee bit! I have always been opposed to vice and prostitution in our city . . . open or otherwise! I am going to continue to fight to keep our city a respectable place in which to raise a family."

This should be enough reason to re-elect Frank Curran your Mayor. But there is much more.

Training Center Will Be Constructed Soon

San Diego's new multi-occupational Skill Center for training and re-training unemployed persons has now been completely funded and construction work began earlier this week, Mayor Frank Curran said today.

The major portion of the Center is located in the Lincoln Elementary School at Twelfth and "E" Streets, and is being remodeled under the provisions of the program. In addition to the remodeling, new modern welding and automotive training shops are being constructed adjoining this location. More than 400 persons will be trained in basic education, as well as mechanical and electrical assembly, the use of hand tools, drafting, welding, and automotive services, Curran said.

The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Economic Development Administration and the State Department of Education. Some $980,000 has been appropriated for remodeling the plant, conducting the training programs and providing living allowances for trainees. The Skill Center will be operated under the direction of the San Diego Unified School District and the San Diego Mayor's Committee for Jobs.

Mayor Curran said other collateral activities to be housed in the remodeled Lincoln School building are a vocational training center for 400 additional students, vocational and adult testing and counselling offices.

Unemployed persons in San Diego interested in Skill Center training or retraining should contact the State Department of Employment at 1354 Front Street, or the State Service Center, 4235 National Avenue, Mayor Curran said.

Mayor Race Nears Final Phase

COUNCILMAN
ALLEN HITCH

A campaign for mayor that started last August with Councilman Allen Hitch jabbing for all he was worth while Mayor Frank Curran casually took the punches ends up Tuesday with both contenders moving at a full pace.

Curran, who is ending his first term as mayor, and Hitch, a councilman for six years, emerged the victors Sept. 19 after a primary campaign that squeezed five other candidates from the competition. Curran polled 51,872 votes then, about 46 per cent of those cast.

Hitch tallied 35,730 votes, more than three times those of the third place finisher. Since then he has been endorsed by three of his primary opponents—George Stahlman, Tom Kane, and Lloyd W. Gough.

Curran, who ran a low key campaign during the primary, let Hitch know he meant business when campaigning in earnest for Tuesday's race began. Hitch, no lax campaigner, has met the challenge.

Things have been so close that when Hitch decided not to take several days off to go to the League of California cities meeting in San Francisco late last month, Curran, who had also originally planned to go, suddenly changed his plans.

With few readily available issues at stake since both are part of the same administration and both support the city's General Plan, Hitch has been hard-pressed to show what Curran's doing wrong. During the primary campaign Hitch hit hard at Curran's absence from City Council sessions and at his character, claiming he favored alcohol too much.

This time Hitch has alleged that statements by Curran about new jobs in the community and new industries aren't so. He has also campaigned about the mayor's basic lack of action while in office.

Curran, meanwhile, has gotten major press play by accusing Hitch of wanting to open the town up "a wee bit"—referring to some Hitch statements in San Diego Magazine. Hitch says he only wanted less police harassment at tourist spots and more courtesy to visitors but Curran keeps pounding away.

One other spark in the campaign came when County Democratic Central Committee chairman Murray Goodrich offered Curran his endorsement. Curran accepted rather reluctantly, and Hitch, a Republican, charged partisanship.

Curran, who is 54, graduated from Oceanside-Carlsbad High School. Since then he has attended several area colleges at night, but has no degree.

Before becoming mayor he served two terms as a councilman and twice was named deputy mayor. In terms of time served, he is the city's senior elected official.

Curran says that "social and economic pressures which embitter and divide our people are matters of deepest concern to me." The mayor says he will continue to seek remedies rather than speak platitudes about race relations.

On the campaign trail Curran proudly points to his record—that San Diego had no race riots last year while violence erupted nearly everywhere else. Yet while Curran believes in settling things at the conference table, he's quick to say that the city is ready to use force if force is needed.

According to Curran, the Mayor's Committee for Jobs, which has placed 3,200 persons since it was formed during his term, is now a state and national model. The committee works with the minority unemployed, especially "hard core" unemployables lacking skill and education.

Hitch, also 54, came to San Diego in 1933 after completing two years of business administration courses at the University of Minnesota. He ended his business career when he took his seat on the council in 1961. He has served once as deputy mayor.

Hitch's main concerns have been finding new jobs for San Diegans and halting the spiraling property tax rate. Hitch acknowledges that new jobs have come to San Diego in the past four years, but he cautions San Diegans about what will happen here when the wartime economy ends. Hitch says San Diego needs a diversified industrial base not dependent on the military or military contracts.

Hitch says that although the city tax rate dropped nearly 10 cents, assessed valuations are up and San Diegans are paying even more in taxes, a trend he hopes to halt if elected. One effort in that direction that Hitch credits himself with is passage of the cigarette tax which raises about $1.2 million per year for San Diego, knocking about 12 cents off the property tax rate. Hitch also points to the hotel-motel room tax as a way of saving taxpayers' dollars.

Another major program of Hitch's has been against the increased use of narcotics in San Diego. To halt the increased use he formed Parents Against Narcotics several months ago to better educate parents to educate their children.

The latest available polls, depending on whose you look at, show it's still very much a race. Voters who didn't vote in the primary and those who supported the other five candidates will make the difference.

MAYOR
FRANK CURRAN

Council District 8

Despite much speculation about who would replace Ivor de Kirby when he retired, only four candidates filed for the vacant seat in District 2.

Tuesday the "finalists"—Sam T. Loftin and Grace L. Thackeray—complete the race. Loftin, a retired businessman, outdistanced Mrs. Thackeray, an interior designer, in the district primary by running up 7,330 votes to her 4,598.

Loftin, who was just this week endorsed by de Kirby, appears to still be the leader. Mrs. Thackeray, who has run an anti-General Plan campaign, has aimed much of her appeal at women. Her contention that San Diego needs a woman on the council lost steam this week with the announcement by Councilman Helen Cobb that she is not retiring—and that she supports Loftin to boot.

Loftin has been one of the few non-incumbents to consistently support the city's General Plan.

Loftin, 34-years a San Diegan, left the Navy to take over an insurance business with 4,000 accounts. When he sold it last year it had 80,000.

Loftin advocates bringing more industry to San Diego, especially clean industry like clothing, oceanography, and electronics. He also favors further development of the Port of San Diego.

Loftin thinks that tourism is an excellent source of income for the city since money generated from it creates jobs at smaller cost in city services required. Loftin is also worried about what he calls "tax strangulation" and has said he will take a close look at city expenditures.

Mrs. Thackeray says her opposition to the General Plan comes because it has no safeguards inside the plan against bulldozer-type urban renewal. Mrs. Thackeray contends that the plan, as now written, allows for condemnation of private property.

A San Diego Woman of the Year, Woman of Valor, and twice a Woman of Achievement, Mrs. Thackeray is quite active as president of a women's Republican organization with 40,000 members. She operates her own business in Point Loma.

Aside from the General Plan, Mrs. Thackeray has continually pledged she will work to have the City Council initiate a program to help solve San Diego's narcotics problem. She has said that the city should offer help to the parents to combat the problem.

The major issue in District 4, which includes Southeast San Diego, has been race relations—with challenger Jesse Albritten doing most of the talking.

Albritten has charged repeatedly that incumbent Tom Hom has not helped San Diego's race problems and says that being a Negro he could offer "motivation" to the Southeast area. Despite Albritten's attacks, Hom outpolled all three challengers combined in the primary race.

Albritten says that the Southeast area needs the city's General Plan more than anywhere else since so much of the area needs rehabilitation. He has attacked Hom's vote against the plan as being against progress for the area.

Hom said he voted against the plan because he felt it should go to the voters for a decision since it had been defeated once before in 1965.

Hom, who has served four years including one as deputy mayor, is 39. He was born, raised, and educated in San Diego.

Hom's major concern has been expanding San Diego's industrial base. His district, which covers the entire metropolitan area, should become less dependent on a few major industries and should rely less on government contracts.

Hom also points to the racial diversity of people in his district which is 60 per cent white, 18 per cent Negro, and 17 per cent Mexican-American—a complexion that requires much of a councilman's time, according to Hom.

Hom said he thinks the major achievement during his term of office has been lowering the unemployment rate in his district.

Albritten, the son of a minister, is a self-employed tax consultant and also is director of a job training project.

In the field of race relations, Albritten contends that individual rights should be paramount to the rights of special interest groups. He says he is well aware of the city's race problems and will "move on this problem by presenting both sides of problem and effecting a solution."

Albritten said he opposes election of City Councilmen in a citywide race because only the rich can afford to run.

Albritten also favors new industry for San Diego, but thinks it should emphasize jobs for the persons with limited knowledge and skills.

District 6 nearly started off with only one competitor—incumbent Councilman Jack Walsh. Athos Sada, his opponent, had planned to run in District 2, only to discover shortly before the filing period that—by several blocks—he was a resident of District 6.

Sada has had little or no criticism of Walsh. Their only point of difference has been on the city's General Plan which Sada opposes because of the urban renewal threat.

Walsh, who is seeking his second term, is presently the city's Deputy Mayor. He was a telephone company executive before he took a cut in pay to become a City Councilman. Until recently he published a statewide tourist publication.

Walsh said he feels taxes have reached the saturation point in San Diego, especially for those on fixed incomes. He feels the solution is curtailment of spending and broadening the sources of tax revenue away from the homeowner and shifting them to those who benefit directly from them.

Part of Walsh's program during his term has been stepping up development of city parks by allowing citizens to match funds with the city. Walsh has also encouraged the undergrounding of utilities and beautification of street center islands.

Walsh cost-cutting programs have already offered several million dollars in tax relief to San Diegans. He has also obtained several federal grants for local projects.

Sada, who retired last year from the police force as deputy chief, was born in San Diego and attended school locally. He was a professional baseball player before joining the city as a patrolman in 1941.

Walsh said he feels San Diegans should have been asked to vote on the General Plan since 67,000 voters turned it down in 1965.

Sada has charged the city with "hanky panky" on the plan and says that the City Council action to approve the plan shows that the citizenry has lost its representation.

Sada says he is probably the most qualified of all the candidates to talk on the narcotic problem, which he says there is no ready answer for. Sada advocates more education in the home as the only effective way to combat increased use. He said that parents who cannot recognize marijuana when they see it cannot prevent their children from using it.

Like most of the other incumbents in the primary race, Councilman Mike Schaefer easily outpolled all others running—including his present opponent. Schaefer ended up with 7,383 votes to Art Aker's 2,154.

Despite his anti-administration stands, Aker has made little headway to date, although his criticism of the private club at the San Diego Stadium has gained him some attention.

Aker's main contention has been that Schaefer has not represented his own district, and that that district is behind in its parks program. He also has claimed, although not substantiated, that Schaefer doesn't really live in his own district.

Although he led off the campaign talking against the city's General Plan, Aker now says he will probably vote for it. Schaefer, as a member of the present City Council, has backed the plan. Schaefer, a native San Diegan from Pacific Beach, has a law degree and is a practicing attorney. He previously served as a deputy city attorney before running for City Council.

"Race relations have been a satisfying and challenging area of public concern since my first service as a public representative," said Schaefer. He said he thinks more face-to-face sessions with minority groups are needed to solve San Diego racial problems.

A strong part of Schaefer's current campaign has been on stricter enforcement of juvenile smoking laws—especially the distribution of cigarettes to minors. Another proposal by Schaefer this week was to relax parking meter enforcement in areas where less than half the meters are in use.

Akers, who is 47, has lived here 13 years. He is employed by an aircraft company in Los Angeles as a consultant.

Akers said he thinks the lack of jobs and the lack of persons to fill existing jobs in San Diego is the community's most pressing problem. Akers said he thinks San Diego should provide an atmosphere conducive to new business wishing to locate here.

In the area of race relations, Akers also recognizes that action is needed. "Race relations will become our most pressing and most dangerous problem if we do not immediately provide equal rights an equal opportunities to each of our citizens," said Akers. He suggests more jobs and better homes to alleviate the problem.

Board Of Education District A

Although it has basically been a quiet race, Board of Education candidates in District A offer a choice to voters in several areas.

Incumbent Arnold O. Steele, now completing his first term, is opposed to teacher strikes, but Warren Armstrong, his opponent, says that teachers should strike if negotiations don't solve the issues. Armstrong also says that he favors teacher unions while Steele said he thinks professional associations are acceptable.

(Incumbent)

Steele said he feels education is the nation's key domestic problem and that it should be the "first and greatest concern of the state."

Steele said he advocates more state aid for schools.

On school integration, Steele says that "the American heritage requires that we eliminate barriers of prejudice so that men are judged by their character, achievements, and abilities—not by their racial origin." Steele says that compensatory education and the "Headstart" program should help bridge the cultural gap that separates middle class children from Negro youth.

Armstrong says that increased state aid is the solution to the financial problems of local school districts. Armstrong says the state has a broader tax base to help assist the local property taxpayer.

Armstrong says that any concerted drive toward school integration in San Diego must originate with the Citizens Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity.

Armstrong said the Board of Education must "stand up and be counted on the controversial recommendations made" in the group's report on de facto segregation in San Diego.

DISTRICT D

The race in District D pits Richard L. Johnston, a hospital administrator, against Jimmie Kum Sun Sue, a teacher.

Johnston's primary showing was impressive where he tallied 14,128 votes to Sue's 6,815. They are running to fill a seat vacated by Dr. Frank Lowe's retirement from the board.

Johnston, 43, has a master's degree in public health and has been with Children's Hospital since 1954.

Johnston says that "public education has to be recognized as a basic necessity not only for the benefit of the young people of the city, but for the perpetuation of our way of life. He said he would seek to initiate effective administration and effective communications between educators, administrators, and the Board.

Johnston says taxes must be viewed as a vehicle for realizing good educational programs. He says individual taxes should be kept at a level consistent with other communities by broadening our tax base on general sales, luxury, and leisure-time activities.

Sue, a teacher for 11 years, is also public relations manager for a pennant company and a representative for an encyclopedia firm in San Diego.

Sue says that in business profits can be increased by increasing sales as well as by reducing costs. Sue said he thinks schools can reduce costs by educating employees and students to be frugal.

Sue said he is firmly against compulsive busing and that he does not believe that de facto segregation exists in the San Diego school system.

Sue says San Diego should turn its efforts from discussing the negatives toward educating the young "who have been yearning openly for a good foundation and a balanced education."

DISTRICT E

The real fireworks in the Board of Education campaign have come in District E where Rev. George Walker Smith, a Negro, has severely criticized campaign literature being spread by his opponent, Hardy Day. Smith easily outdistanced Day in the primary, 14,056 to 5,335.

Smith, who is seeking a second term, claims that Day, through his literature, is attempting to pick up an anti-Negro backlash. Day claims that he has been misquoted and his statements distorted.

Smith has been a board member since 1963. Smith says that the local taxpayer has reached the saturation point and that school districts should turn to the state and federal governments for help.

Smith said he opposes the "educational park" concept since it involves mass busing and would require the abandonment of many usable structures owned by the school district.

Day, 38, is president of Cabrillo Pacific University and the San Diego School of Business. He was raised and educated in Texas.

Day said he believes in equal education and rights for all students and teachers without preferential treatment for any individual or group.

He says that busing is ill-advised, expensive, dangerous and inconvenient as a means of achieving racial balance.

Day also feels that class sizes should be reduced and that a businessman's approach is needed for management of the largest tax budget in the city of San Diego.
